WAC 468-38-390 Winter road restrictions.

During periods when "emergency load restrictions" or "severe emergency load restrictions" are in effect, only vehicles equipped with tires required by WAC 468-38-080 may operate under permit. Movement by permit of units whether driven, towed, or hauled is prohibited in areas where any of the following signs are displayed: "Traction Tires advised," "approved traction tires recommended," "approved traction tires required," or "tire chains required."

Special permits for movements over mountain passes (Snoqualmie, Stevens, Sherman, Blewett, White, and Satus) will not be valid during periods when snow is falling to a degree that visibility is limited to less than 1,000 feet; immediately following a severe storm when snow removal equipment is operating, when fog or rain limits visibility to less than 1,000 feet; or when compact snow and ice conditions require the use of chains. If hazardous conditions are encountered after a move is undertaken, it shall be the responsibility of the permittee to remove the oversize load from the highway, and he shall not proceed until conditions have abated and he has obtained clearance from the nearest department of transportation office or the Washington State Patrol.

Notes for Exceptions and Restrictions
